23 KNOWN DEAD AND 25 INJURED IN THURSDAY'S CLASH

PREMIER IS NOT DISMAYED

TROOPS AND PLANES SENT TO TOWN OF MIERES

Madrid, To-day.—Twenty-three are known to be dead and 25 injured in yesterday's fighting. It is believed that the casualties will prove considerably heavier when the figures are ascertained from the mining districts of Asturias and Eibar, where heavy fighting continues.

The Premier, Senor Lerroux, is not dismayed and declared at midnight that the Government took an optimistic view and hoped that the situation would soon return to normal.

He added that he was quite prepared to face disorders. Measures had been taken for sufficient guarantee for the security of the regime.

The rebels are still in possession of the town of Mieres, in Asturias, to which place troops have been despatched. Communications with Madrid, however, have been cut, and aeroplanes sent out to drop leaflets calling on the rebels to surrender.—Reuter.

CHINESE RESCUE AMERICAN

Pulled Out Of Harbour In Early Hours

An American seaman, C. Danliesson, of the American Mail steamer President Grant probably owes his life to several Chinese boatmen who rescued him from the harbour between the Star Ferry and Queen's Pier at 1.45 o'clock this morning.

The police report states that Danliesson was under the influence of drink when he was rescued. He was sent to the Government Civil Hospital, suffering from immersion.

U.S. SILVER POLICY AND CHINA

Change In Purchasing Plans Denied

New York, To-day.—The United States Treasury told a representative of the United Press that there has been no recent change in the United States' silver purchase policy in China, and denied that large purchases of Chinese-owned silver have been made, so far.—United Press, per S. E. Levy and Company.

RISE IN RUBBER IS FORESEEN

Restriction Sequel

New York, To-day.—According to Washington advices, Mr. Harvey Firestone of the Firestone Tyre Rubber Company, called on Mr. Phillips, the Assistant Secretary of State and predicted that as a result of restrictions on rubber production, prices would show a substantial rise.—United Press, per S. E. Levy and Company.

PRIME MINISTER DECLARED TO BE MUCH BETTER

Holiday And Rest Greatly Benefits Eyesight

London, To-day.—After a thorough examination yesterday morning, lasting 1½ hours, Doctors Lord Horder and Sir Stewart Duke Elder pronounced the Prime Minister's general health as extremely good, being much improved as the result of his holiday in Newfoundland.

The long rest has greatly benefited his eyesight which was the chief cause of his holiday from Cabinet duties.—British Wireless Service.

KING HOLDS PRIVY COUNCIL

Most Representative In Recent Years

FORMAL CONSENT TO PRINCE GEORGE'S MARRIAGE

London, To-day.—His Majesty the King held a Privy Council at Buckingham Palace yesterday at which His Majesty gave his formal consent to the marriage of his son, the Prince of Wales, to the Princess Marina of Greece.

The Council was one of the most representative held in recent years. Two members of the Royal family, H.R.H. the Prince of Wales and H.R.H. the Duke of Connaught, were present, and the Council was the first state function in which the first state function in which the Prime Minister, Mr. Ramsay MacDonald, had participated since his return from a health tour in Canada.

RUBBER PRICE PROBLEM

Dutch Expert Sees Danger In Rise

The Hague, To-day.—The Director of the Dutch Government Economic Department holds the opinion that the present price of estate rubber is satisfactory.

Ninence a lb. at which he opines the British rubber industry is aiming, will not only stimulate production in areas where restriction is not enforced, but will lead to an increased output of reclaimed and synthetic rubber.—Reuter.

LOCAL DOLLAR STEADY

Silver Prices Improve

The local dollar is steady, opening on demand at 1/7 1/8. Both spot and forward silver prices advanced 1/16, closing prices yesterday being 22 1/2 and 22 3/4, respectively.

SCHOOL GUTTED BY FIRE AT WEST POINT

A Chinese school situated on the third floor of No. 76 Des Voeux Road West, was completely gutted by fire which broke out last night at about 11.15 p.m. The origin and extent of damage has not been ascertained as yet.

Dr. W. W. Yen, Chinese Minister to the Soviet, arrived in Peking yesterday from Peking.

CARDINALS WIN

DETROIT FAIL BEFORE PAUL DEAN IN WORLD SERIES

ST. LOUIS ONE UP IN BASEBALL CLASSIC

COCHRANE'S TWO PITCHERS

New York, To-day.—Frankie Frisch's St. Louis Cardinals smashed their way to a second victory in the third game of the World baseball Series at Sportsman Park, St. Louis, yesterday, defeating the American League contenders, Detroit Tigers, by a margin of 4 to 1.

Paul "Daffy" Dean, brother of Jerome "Dizzy" Dean, was moundman for the victorious Cardinals throughout the game. Mickey Cochrane, $100,000 manager of the Tigers, selected Tommy Bridges as his hurler in the opening stages of the clash, but when the rival batters slugged out two runs in the fifth innings Elton Hosie was substituted in desperation. He, however, failed to hold the Cardinals who were invincible.

HONOURS SHARED

St. Louis won the first game at Navin Field, Detroit, by an 8 to 3 margin but Lynwood "Schoolboy" Rowe pitched the Motor City team to level terms in the second meeting by a 3 to 2 tally. Yesterday's Series game was the first of three World Series games to be played on St. Louis diamond.

The scores were:

	R.	H.	E.
St. Louis	4	9	1
Detroit	1	8	2

MISS TRAUNG MEETS HOLDER IN FINAL

Miss Van Wie Beats Mrs. Vare

U.S. WOMEN'S GOLF

Philadelphia, To-day.—Virginia Von Wie, the holder, and Dorothy Traung will contest the Final Round of the American National Women's Golf Championship over the White Marsh Valley Country Club course to-day.

Miss Van Wie beat Mrs. Collett Vare, former eastern champion now attempting a comeback after two years' absence, by 3 and 2 in the Semi-Final yesterday, while Miss Traung beat Mrs. Hill by the same margin.—Reuter.

"LOPSIDED GUILD OF SOCIALISM"

Donald Richberg Attacks Price-Fixing Control

SPECIAL TO CHINA MAIL.
(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1934. Received October 6, 7.40 a.m.)

Washington, To-day.—The National Association of Manufacturers are issuing a referendum to thousands of industrialists to ascertain their stand when the new National Recovery Administration legislation is sent to Congress.

Mr. Donald Richberg, in a speech on the Code price-fixing production control, said that it was a "lopsided guild of socialism." Business must protect its fair competition and not belittle competition.

United Press, per S. E. Levy and Company.

CHINESE RAILWAY MAGNATE AT HOME

Studying Management Of English Railways

London, To-day.—Mr. Huang Pe-tai, managing director of the Nanking-Shanghai Hangchow Railways, told Reuter yesterday, on his arrival in London from America, that he was on what was partly a pleasure and partly a business trip. He said he was most anxious to see something of the management of the English railways, owing to their close association with Chinese railways.

Mr. Huang Pe-tai is staying in England for about a fortnight, and will then visit Europe, returning to China via Siberia.—Reuter.

Desperadoes are fascinating to most women because they have a "caveman" appeal, declares Dr. Louis E. CANTON TO CHECK THE SMUGGLING OF WOLFRAM TO COLONY

Private Exploiters Active

JAPAN MAKES PURCHASES ON CHEAP CANTON MARKET

(From Our Own Correspondent). Canton, To-day.—With wolfram being sold here as a government monopoly, the Provincial Department of Reconstruction is making every effort to check smuggling of this mineral by private exploiters from their mines to outport buyers.

Most of the mineral resources in Kwangtung are wolfram, which can be obtained by manual labour. Such deposits are found in abundance in northern, eastern, and western regions of this province.

As wolfram is useful in connection with the manufacture of armaments, this ore is in great demand by buying agents in Hong Kong on behalf of arsenal works in Germany, Czechoslovakia, France, Great Britain, and the United States. Even Japan finds that it is cheaper to buy wolfram from Canton than elsewhere.

MACAO BOAT THREE HOURS LATE

Encounters Heavy Seas On Return Journey

DELAYED SAILING TIME

Delayed at Macao for over two hours, and losing another hour on her return journey to the Colony owing to heavy seas and a strong headwind, the Macao night boat, as Sul An, this morning arrived here three hours behind schedule.

On the outward run to the Portuguese Colony, the steamer took the inner course for the comfort of passengers, but arrived at Macao on time. No. 1 typhoon signal being hoisted, it was anticipated by boat officials that a change of signal would mean a change in sailing time, but although no other signal was hoisted, it was deemed advisable not to sail until 5.30 a.m. instead of the usual time, 3 a.m.

$4,083,000 Scheme Adopted By Metropolitan Water Board

London, To-day.—A scheme for the provision of two new reservoirs in the Thames Valley, each capable of holding 4,000,000,000 gallons of water, at an estimated total cost of $4,083,000 was yesterday unanimously adopted at a meeting of the Metropolitan Water Board.

Steps to obtain Parliamentary sanction for the scheme will be undertaken in the coming session.—British Wireless Service.

CARY GRANT NOT POISONED

Another "Household" Quarrel

Hollywood, To-day.—It has now been discovered that Cary Grant is not suffering from poisoning.

Grant's wife, Virginia Cherrill, rushed to his apartment, but when she found that Grant was not poisoned she returned to her mother.

Miss Cherrill went to her mother's residence after the previous "household" quarrel.—Reuter.

EUROPEAN FIRMS ARE THREATENED BY CANTON TAX

Ignore Suggestion Of Boycott

CLAIMED UNOFFICIAL

(From Our Own Correspondent). Canton, To-day.—Circular letters addressed by the Canton Chamber of Commerce demanding foreign firms to pay the business tax on October 15 on the pain of an economic boycott were received only by those commercial houses in the Chinese city and not those in Shamen, it was learned to-day.

The letters recalled that the managers, or managing directors, of foreign firms in the city were requested to attend a meeting at the Chamber's headquarters on August 2 where they were to be informed why they should pay the business tax. Very few foreign merchants went to the meeting.

TYPHOON NEAR

H.M.S. SUFFOLK DISPATCHED TO THE SCENE

TAIKOO TUG RUSHED TO ASSISTANCE

STARBOARD SIDE NOW BEING DASHED AGAINST REEF

BOTTOM PLATES LEAKING

The City of Cambridge, the 7,000 tons cargo-steamer of the Bank Line, went ashore on Pratas Reef, 180 miles from Hong Kong at 5.30 a.m. this morning, and is stated to be in a precarious position owing to the proximity of the typhoon.

Wireless information was immediately despatched to Hong Kong and H.M.S. Suffolk, the County Class cruiser which arrived from the North yesterday, left this morning to render assistance.

A salvage tugboat from Taikoo was despatched to the scene.

DESPERATE S.O.S. CALL

The vessel, in her message to Hong Kong, asked for the immediate assistance of a salvage tug as she was hard and fast on the rocks and her starboard side bumping the reef. Her bottom plates are stated to be leaking.

The vessel is ashore to the south-east of Pratas Island, about 2 1/2 miles south-east of the lighthouse.

The rough weather outside Hong Kong harbour is given as the cause for the grounding.

The City of Cambridge left Manila on Wednesday at noon, with a cargo of about 1,000 tons of general cargo for Hong Kong.

Weather conditions at the time of grounding were bad, but later reports show that the conditions are improving.

Built in 1921 at Workman, Clark and Company's shipyards, Belfast, the City of Cambridge has a gross tonnage of 7,000 tons.

Her dimensions are: length, 454 feet; width 52.2 feet and depth, 34 feet. She is operated by the Ellerman and Bucknall S.S. Co., Ltd., and is on the London, Havre, New York, Pacific Coast and Far Eastern service. The local agents are the Bank Line (China) Ltd.

TYPHOON MOVES SLOWLY

The typhoon, which has kept No. 1 signal hoisted in Hong Kong since Thursday night, is now situated about 200 miles S.S.E. of the Colony, and is stationary or moving slowly westwards.

WEATHER FORECAST

The weather forecast, issued by the Royal Observatory, this morning, predicts north-east winds, strong to a gale, cloudy with some rain.

SUBMARINE SINKS JUNK

While crossing the harbour in the central fairway at 6.30 a.m. yesterday morning cargo-boat No. 1146 belonging to Chung-Li, collided with H.M.C. Submarine Orpheus, and was sunk. The boatman was rescued by a police launch which came to the assistance.

The Woman's Page

When You Go Shopping

Make Your Purchases Proportionate To Purse

POINTS TO BE REMEMBER

SHOPPING has always been a woman's most fascinating pastime—the lure of the shop-window is too strong to be resisted. Many women pride themselves on their flair for a good bargain, but others are less shrewd in their purchasing. Like everything else shopping is an art that must be carefully studied in order to obtain the best results.

To be a good shopper you must first and foremost be really good at simple mental arithmetic. This goes without saying.

To begin with you should start on your shopping expedition with a round sum in your purse proportionate to what your purchases will amount to. It is always very unsatisfactory not to know the exact amount your purse originally contained when you make up accounts on your return.

You should inform yourself of prices. This can be done by discussions with friends, by studying and preserving price-lists, and by comparing prices between one shop and another. You would be surprised to discover the difference there often exists even between standard goods. It is the shopper's business to buy with due regard to both price and quality. This sounds like a platitude, but many people put cheapness before everything and do not realise that a better article at a somewhat higher price is often more genuinely economical.

Examine The Bill

Shop assistants are merely human and it sometimes happens that they themselves are not quite sure of the price of the article required—it is up to you to see that they do not out the price from a reliable source. It is no these occasions that your own knowledge of prices and values comes into play.

It is enough to point out that shoppers must be on the alert all the time and see that they make a square deal. When it comes to handing over the money, or your purchases run your eye over the bill and add up the figures yourself. You will sometimes find mistakes even here. It is so much better to make your discoveries on the spot than later.

Mistakes

When buying sarees or materials for dresses the stuff should be held near the face in a good light and the effect examined in a mirror. Many Hong Kong silk merchants overlook this necessity to provide long mirrors in a good light for their customers. It is not enough to admire the material on the counter unless the stuff happens to be an old favourite of assured becomingness.

Then again the effect of a new hat needs to be scrutinised in a full length mirror because even the proportions of a hat need to be considered with regard to those of the figure—another fact which is often overlooked.

There is, of course, a great deal more to be said on the art of buying the best in various commodities much of which is acquired by personal experience and friendly counsel. The great thing is to make a note of where certain things can be bought best with regard to freshness, quality and price.

And it is well to remember to do

Tomato red fashions this snappy woolen frock as well suited to the chic Mary Carline, screen actress. The dress is tucked trimmed and features a matching coat-trimmed with velvet. The hat is of black tulle.

BROWN WOODEN SEQUINS

Paris. ALIX, who has introduced some of the newest lines this season, has thought out a tunic made of brown wooden sequins over a slim brown satin skirt. And she makes the armholes of her coats and some of her frocks nearly waist deep to give the new loose effect.

SHEATH-LIKE FROCK RETURNS

Paris. THE sheath-like evening frock is to be revived. It fits more closely than ever to the figure and, more often than not, shows an uneven hem or simply dips at the back. The hobble tendency at the knees is relieved by the skirt being slit to give walking room. Below the knees are frills, flares, flounces, pleated insets—in short any width-making device which appeals to the ingenuity of the designer.

POCKETS

POCKETS are as much in evidence as ever, and are fastened in a number of new ways. Bars of wood suspended from cords are used instead of buttons by one designer. Another is using metal or composition clips.

all the necessary shopping in a given neighbourhood before proceeding to another because petrol and rickshaw hires have to be taken into consideration when we go shopping and economy must be practised in more than one direction.

WOOLLENS ARE LIKE GOSSAMER THIS AUTUMN

The Latest Dress Materials

COMBINATION COLOURS

London.

Much of the interest in the new autumn coats and dresses lies in the materials of which they are made.

This means that if you cannot have the fashionable fur trimming, you can make up for it by choosing a fabric which is obviously "up to the minute" with a smart scarf of, let us say, stiff satin or satin embroidered with a design in tinsel thread.

The hairy materials are the most important and interesting among the new fabrics. Some of them have a surface with hairs about an inch long, scattered sometimes thickly, sometimes very sparsely, over the surface.

If you do not boast a stream-line figure, choose one of the woolens on which the hairs are so flat that they give merely the effect of a pile.

Country Plaids

Plain materials are more favoured than patterned ones for formal wear. But if you are planning country clothes you will choose checks, plaids in bright colours or two shades of the same colour, or tweed with just that effect of faultiness in the broken pattern which gives hand-weaving its charm.

Thick bright threads "darned" through horizontally on a dark ground give a charming effect—especially for a suit and accompanying overcoat.

Diagonal stripes in self-colourings are good, and there are a good many boucle materials and others which have a knotted effect in the yarn.

One of the most fascinating coats seen in the collections was made in a woolen which was woven with tiny bits of astrakhan in broken lines.

Woolen materials for autumn dresses can be as thin as you like, with the new gaufrage or check patterns in self-colours, stripes in fancy yarns on a plain ground, or in a colour against a contrasting one. No trimming, except a smart belt, is necessary. In addition, don't forget that there is hardly a dress material made to-day which has not a matching one of coat weight, either with a plain or fancy ground.

For Chilly People

When you look for a patterned woolen, you take it for granted that it is woven. But this season, as it has already been announced, there are new rough woolens and tweeds, suitable for dresses, with designs printed on their surface instead. Some of these blouse and scarf woolens have a shot effect.

And here is good news for those chilly people who fall back hopelessly on what someone has called "the inevitable woolly jacket" as soon as winter comes. The new fine, sheer woolen materials make delightful blouses.

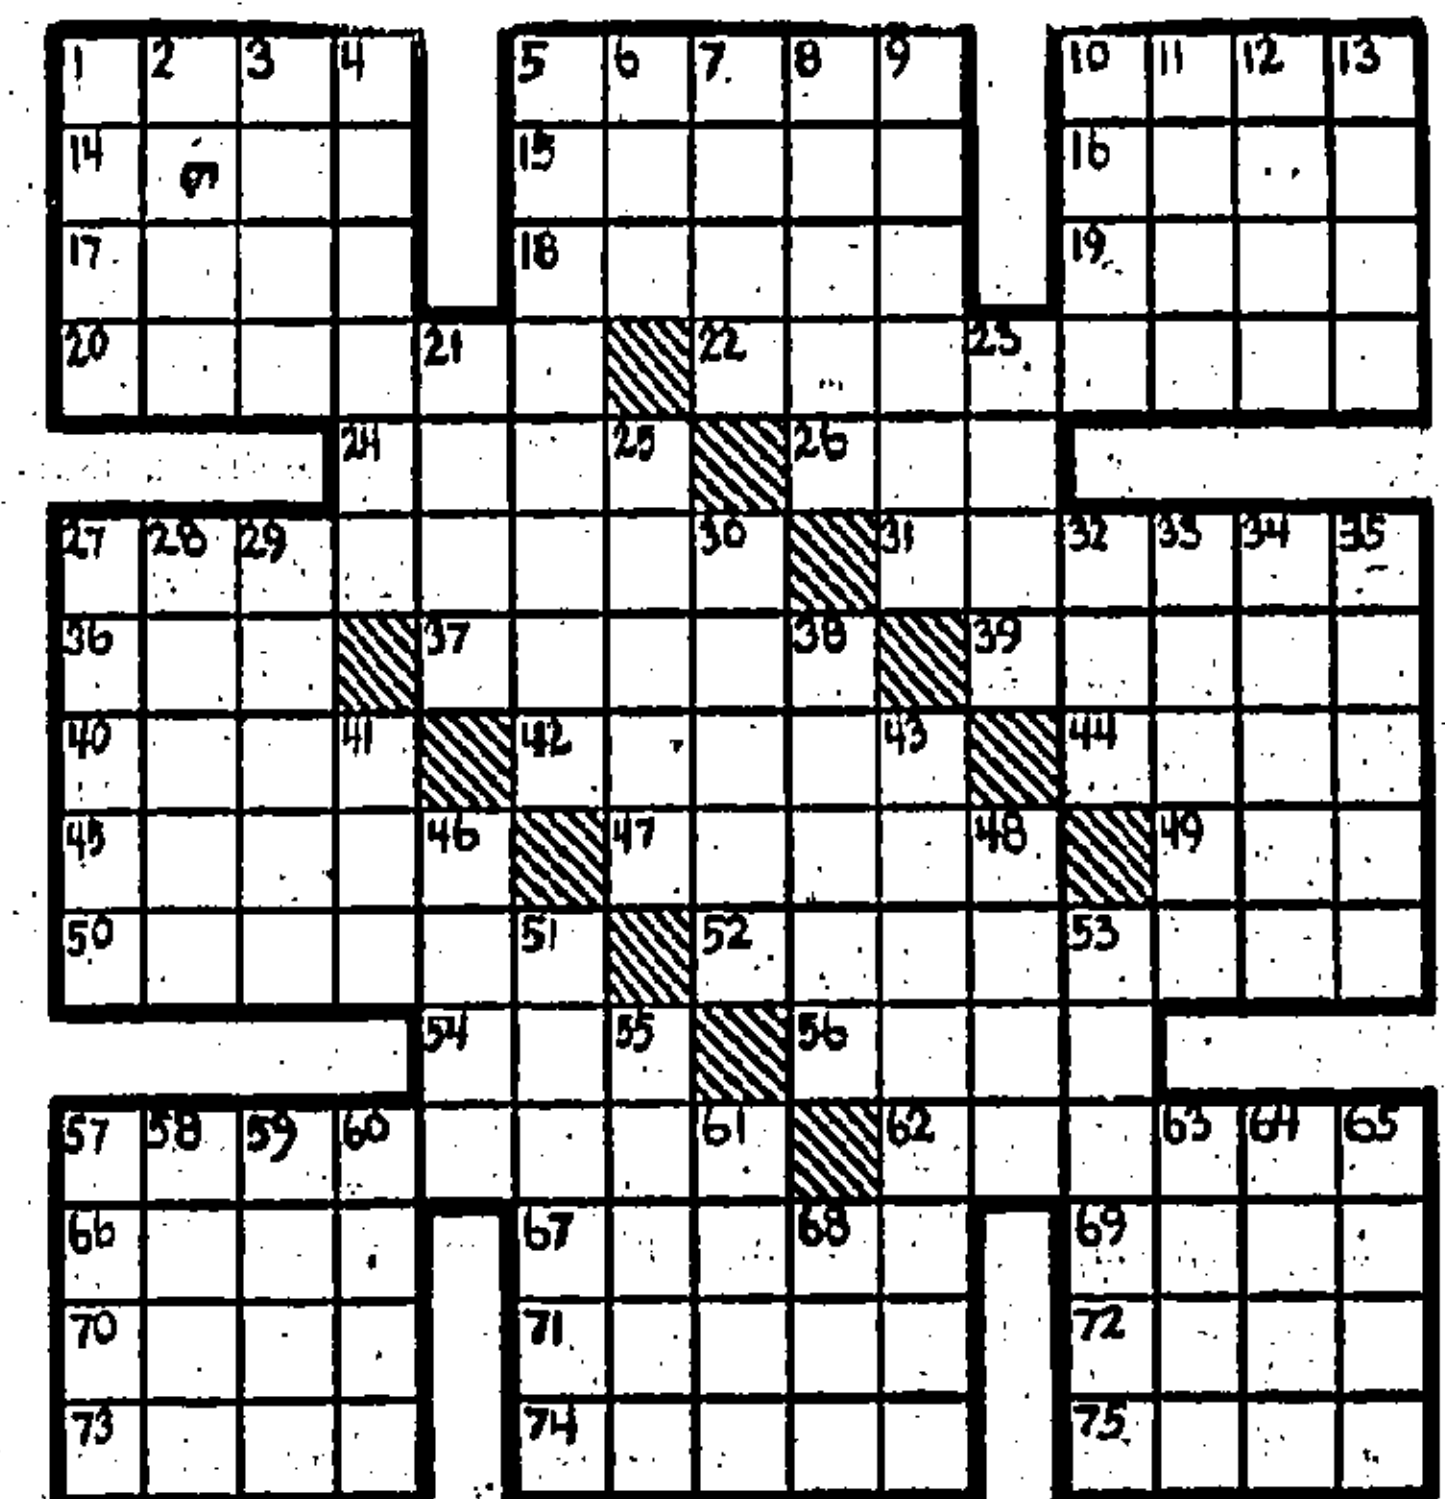

Another new way of combining colours is to have a long coat in a dark shade, say in brown cloth, lined with a brighter contrasting colour, perhaps a soft blue to match the frock, which is of the same material.

"THE TRUMPET BLOWS"—KING'S THEATRE

George Raft, sleek-haired film star, is starred in "The Trumpet Blows," a thrilling, action-packed romance of Mexico and the most dangerous sport in the world—bull fighting.

His supporting cast is headed by Adolphe Menjou, Frances Drake, and Sidney Toler. Katherine De Mille, daughter of the famous director, Edward Ellis, Douglas Wood, Nydia Westman and Francis McDonald, are also prominently cast.

When Raft, young brother of Menjou, who is a retired bandit, now a respectable cattle rancher, arrives back in Mexico from his schooling in the United States, the older man tries to dissuade him from becoming a bull-fighter.

Frances Drake draws Raft into an impulsive romance, and he in turn finds she is loved by his brother. This conflict, flames into intensity by Raft's pursuit of bull fighting in defiance of his brother's orders, reaches a thrilling climax in the arena.

"MR. SKITCH" AND "THE PALM TRIO"—QUEEN'S THEATRE

America's philosophic comedian, Will Rogers, who was recently seen here in "David Harum," comes again to the Queen's Theatre in Fox's current comedy "Mr. Skitch." On the stage, the internationally famous acrobatic comedians, The Palm Trio, are making their appearance.

Florence Desmond, the year's radio, record, and night club success, plays an important role in "Mr. Skitch."

Miss Desmond, a sensation in the east, made her bid for fame with imitations of Hollywood picture stars. Phonograph records of her imitations—particularly one having to do with a Hollywood party—have passed the 200,000 mark.

In the Rogers picture, Miss Desmond portrays a movie-stuck girl from Brooklyn who is hitch-hiking to California. She meets "Ira the judge" happened to look up "Skitch" (Rogers) and his family into a tree and saw something in a tourist camp which, quite other missing glove—draped unity to do her imitations. Zasu Pitts has another feature.

"FORBIDDEN"—ALHAMBRA THEATRE

The dramatic story of a woman who devotes her entire lifetime to furthering the ambitions of her father, sublimating her own life to his, is told in "Forbidden," a Columbia production, featuring Barbara Stanwyck, at the Alhambra Theatre.

"Forbidden" is a story so true to life that its simplicity and naturalness make a drama far more poignant and powerful than any theatrical pyrotechnics. The story starts on a gay, frivolous note. Lulu Smith, a small town librarian, decides to take a "flag." She spends all her hard-earned savings on beautiful clothes and a trip to Havana. What she wants is adventure, and what she meets is a lawyer, a lawyer travelling alone and willing to play, her adventure begins, romance follows, and disillusionment is inevitable. Bob is married.

Supporting Miss Stanwyck are: Adolphe Menjou, Ralph Bellamy, Dorothy Peterson, Charlotte Henry, Halliwell Hobbes, baby Myrna Fresholtz, Tom Ricketts and Thomas Jefferson.

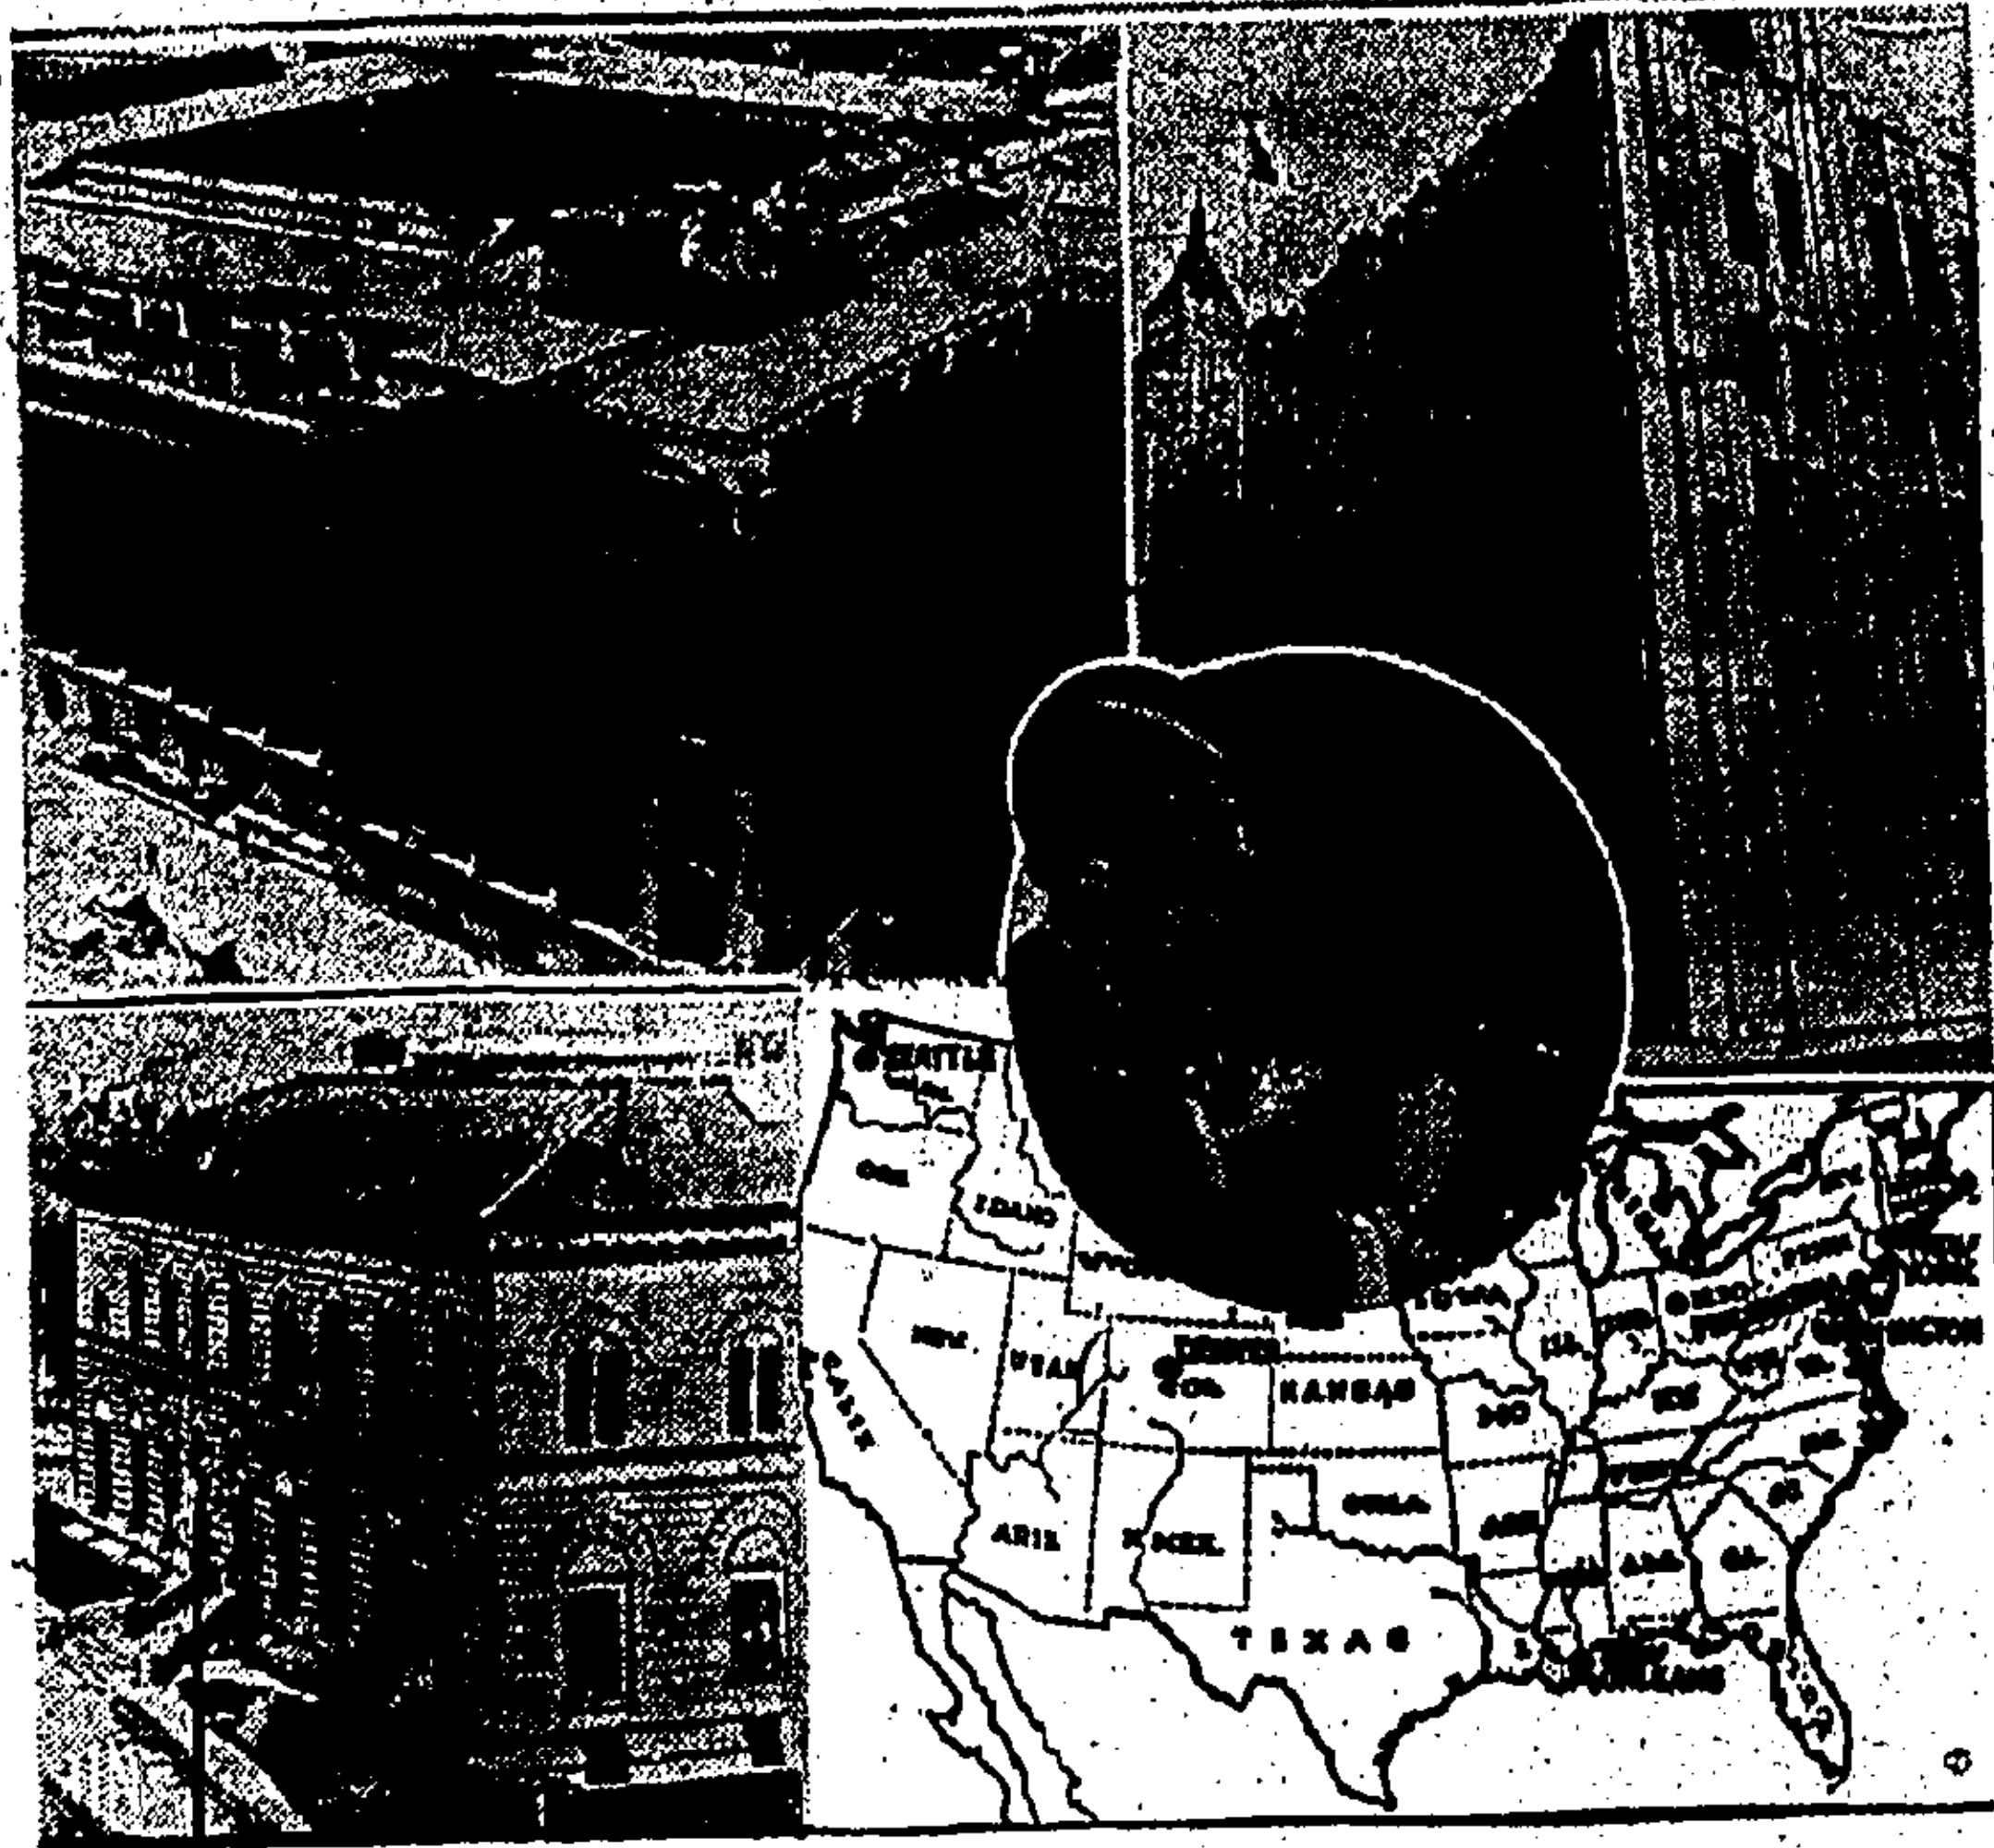

"WE'RE NOT DRESSING"—ORIENTAL THEATRE

Bing Crosby, noted crooner of "Learn to Croon," makes a welcome return to the screen in Paramount's musical romance "We're Not Dressing," the current attraction at the Oriental Theatre.

Crosby's powerful and melodious voice is well-known to moviegoers, and the picture, which carries adventures, jungle love, and hilarious amusement, is well worth seeing.

The film, adapted from the story by Benjamin Glazer, has a strong supporting cast, which includes: George Lombard, George Burns, Gracie Allen, Ethel Norman, Lew Errol, and others.

The picture, which has been compared with "Bring 'Em Back Alive," was made in Malaya last year.

The movement of gold ingots, estimated at worth between $1,500,000,000 and $2,150,000,000, from San Francisco to the Denver mint (lower), is part of the Government programme to concentrate the gold supply in the few places, shown on the map. The Treasury in Washington (top left) has about $18,000,000 worth. Assay Office, New York (upper right), is the depository for the New York and New England districts. Seattle and Philadelphia stocks are small compared to the Denver total. All gold stocks, constituting the largest supply in the world, are under the supervision of a woman, Mrs. Nellie Taylor Ross (inset), Director of the Mint.

SCOUTS CONCERT AT CHINA FLEET CLUB

Prominent Local Artists To Assist

OCTOBER 24 FIXED

One of the best Concerts of the season will be presented at the China Fleet Club Theatre on Wednesday October 24 by the Scouts of the 4th Hong Kong (Murray) and 4th Kowloon (Garrahan) Troops.

The programme, which is being produced almost entirely by local artists, is a model of variety. Every minute will be fully accounted for, and items will follow each other in quick succession.

The following popular artists will contribute to the evening's entertainment—Mr. Victor Sanders, Professor F. Gonzales, Miss Helen and Stella Ho, Rev. J. N. Lewis, Mrs. Sinclair, Messrs. Grenham and Ferguson, and the talented Quartette of the Lincolnshire Regiment—Messrs. King, Trow, Kime, and Goble.

The Scouts themselves will, of course, present a Grand Opening and Close as well as an item in each half.

The proceeds of the Concert are to be devoted to the funds of the 4th Hong Kong and 4th Kowloon Troops and there is no doubt that they will find little difficulty in filling the Theatre.

Tickets at $2—(reserved) and $1—(unreserved) are now available either from the Scouts or from the Anderson Music Co. Further particulars will be published later.

NEW BISHOP OF ST. ASAPH

Canon W. T. Havard To Succeed

Canon W. H. Havard, vicar of St. Mary's Swansea, and a former Welsh Rugby International, is to succeed Dr. A. G. Edwards, the veteran Archbishop of Wales, now retired, as Bishop of St. Asaph. The new Archbishop will be selected when the Electoral College meets at Llandrindod Wells in November.

It took 47 of the most influential ecclesiastical and lay representatives in the Church in Wales, meeting in secrecy behind the locked door of St. Asaph Cathedral, exactly four and a half hours to arrive at this decision.

The cathedral gates were chained and padlocked, and it was impossible for anyone to get within 60 yards of the building.

It is a long time since such precautions were taken to ensure that unauthorized people the "witch" he passed here in a divorce action.

BRIDGE NOTES

ESTABLISHMENT OF SUIT

by Ely Culbertson.

The most frequently used principle in playing the hand at a trump declaration is the establishment of a side suit so that the established cards in that suit may be used for discards.

South is playing a contract of six hearts. West's Opening lead is a trump, and South proceeds to count his losers. There are three in spades, none in hearts, two in spades, none in hearts, two in clubs, a total of five. South can afford to lose only one trick if he is to fulfill his contract. Four losers must therefore be eliminated.

The Dummy hand contains six clubs to the A K Q; seven clubs are in the hands of the adversaries. If they are distributed four in one hand and three in the other, everything is simple; two small clubs, in addition to the three top cards, can be established by ruffing out one of the small clubs.

But if the clubs are unfortunately distributed five and two, then the hand must be handled more carefully. It is best always to play the hand with the utmost safety.

Assuming the more unfortunate distribution, the Declarer must look for the entries to enable him to establish the club suit. In the Dummy hand, there are the King, Ten and eight of trumps. Since the Declarer holds the remaining top cards to the Ace of trumps, Dummy's trumps are all entries. Dummy will require three entries in order for Declarer to be able to enter the Dummy hand twice, ruff out two rounds of clubs, and a third time to bring in the remaining clubs.

Declarer captures the first trick with Dummy's heart 8 and plays the heart 2 from his own hand. He next leads the club 2, which he ruffs with the heart Knave in his own hand. He next leads the heart 7 from his own hand and takes with Dummy's heart Ten. The club 4 is next led and ruffed with the heart Queen.

Both adversaries have followed suit on the two rounds of clubs, which means that six clubs have been played. Four clubs remain in Dummy's hand, making ten, so Declarer knows there are only three clubs in the hands of the adversaries, which will fall on the successive leads of the club Ace, King and Queen.

Declarer now leads the heart 9, and takes with Dummy's King, drawing the remaining adverse trump and entering Dummy at the same time. With the three successive leads of the club Ace, King and Queen, Declarer drops the outstanding clubs and on these leads he discards three losers from his own hand.

The club 6 is established, giving Declarer a discard of a fourth loser. For the last lead from Dummy's hand Declarer selects either a spade or a diamond, according to which of the two Queens he has saved, and finessees for an extra trick. As the cards lie, neither finesse can succeed, but if the King lay with East the extra trick could be made by this method of play.

FIVE AUSTRALIAN PONIES BATTLE FOR HONOURS TO-DAY

HOME-TURF RECORDS

LORD GLANELY TAKES SECOND STANDING

Maharajah Of Rajpipla Displaced

H. H. THE AGA KHAN LEADS OWNERS AND BREEDERS

H. H. the Aga Khan still headed the owners running horses on the British turf at the end of August, with 28 wins by 17 horses, securing prize money valued at £41,295, while Lord Glanely, owner of Colombo, the disappointing favourite for the Derby, has displaced H. H. the Maharaja of Rajpipla for second place, his 15 wins bringing in £13,559, as against £13,469 brought in by the Maharaja's eight wins.

The Aga Khan is also still leading the breeders, horses from his stud having brought in £20,461, as compared with £14,326 brought in by Mr. D. Sullivan's horses, the next British breeder.

With winnings of £59,739, horses trained by Frank Butters have secured a sweeping success this season, his next rival's horses having secured only £18,793.

Gordon Richards leads the jockeys, with 133 wins in a total of 524 mounts, although the backer, having £1 each way, would be £187.7.10 down had he followed the champion throughout the season.

ELLIOT HALL BEAT HOLDERS TO ENTER FINAL

FAVoured TO WIN 1934 TITLE

MORRISON'S IMPROVEMENT

Defeating Ricci Hall by 4 goals to nil, in the semi-final round of the Inter-Hotel Football Championship of the Hong Kong University, Elliot Hall will now meet Morrison Hall in the Final on Tuesday. Morrison defeated Lugard Hall in their Semi-Final match by 2 goals to nil.

This is the first time that Morrison have reached the Final Round, but their chances of carrying off the Championship are very remote, as Elliot has a number of the University league players in their side.

Ricci won the championship last year when they defeated Elliot in the final match.

LANCASHIRE WIN COUNTY CRICKET CHAMPIONSHIP

Sixth Win Since End Of War

TYLDESLEY MAY TURN AMATEUR

(By THOMAS MOULT)

London, August 30. The triumph of Lancashire in the county championship is complete. At Kennington Oval yesterday they won it by virtue of a first innings lead, the match being broken off through rain and poor light when Surrey, who followed on 159 behind, had lost five for 172 in their second knock. Lancashire were thus robbed of an easy victory.

Five times since the war have Lancashire taken the cricket laurel. Altogether in the history it has come to them sixty years of championship at the close of eight summers. Lancashire's success—apart from some fortuitous circumstances, such as Yorkshire's handicap and Eckerley's extraordinary luck in the toss—the captain made no more than three wrong guesses out of thirty—has been the result of virtues plainly to be seen even in yesterday's restricted play.

Perfect Team

They were always a team, each man being able and willing to lend a hand at more than just batting or bowling.

Personality may not be conspicuous at present among those who wear the red rose, but the remarkable number of all-rounders has given the county an attractiveness which was only belied when they found themselves free of Sussex in the race.

Six bowled against Surrey in the first innings, and on the boundary, fielding substitute for Eckerley, who had been prevented by an injury to his hand from taking part in the final day's play, was Washbrook, a young recruit regarded by many Lancashire followers as a coming England batsman.

Tyldesley's Future

Washbrook will probably be found a permanent place in the side next season, for Ernest Tyldesley is retiring, although

SPEEDY DADO AND TOMMY IN RANKING LIST

Local Interest In Filipino Fighter

MAXIE ROSENBLUM ON DOWNGRADE

Toronto, September 17.

Young Tommy and Speedy Dado, the latter of whom it is interesting to note was fostered in the "Boxing Stable" of Mr. T. B. Wilson, President of the Hong Kong Rotary Club, in Manila at one time, considered the world's outstanding fighters in their division, were to-day ranked fourth and fifth in the 118-pound class by the National Boxing Association.

A newcomer, Sexto Escobar of Puerto Rico, sensational conqueror of Baby Casanova and Eugene Huat, was ranked first among the bantams by the world's foremost boxing body.

The association declared the lightweight class as without a champion, owing to the miserable showing thus far this year of Maxie Rosenblum, golden-haired Broadway playboy, previously recognized by the NBA as the world's lightweight champion.

Rosenblum has fought ten bouts this year. He has won two, drawn in two and lost the remaining six. Three of his six losses were at the hands of Lee Ramage, youthful San Diego 180-pounder.

Reason For Fall

Observers are attributing Tommy's drop in NBA esteem mainly to his infrequent showing on the West Coast this year and to the fact that in four recent appearances, against mediocre opponents, he has won but once, drawn twice and lost once.

RACING HEART LIKELY TO TRIUMPH

TWO FAST GALLOPS ON EVE OF RACE

SOLDIER OF GERMANY AND LEMBERG FOR "DOUB LE BEST"

(By "Rapier")

THE cooler weather and a $2 parimutuel should entice a large crowd to the Valley this afternoon for the first day of the Eighth Extra-Race Meeting. The track is in perfect condition and a record is expected in the Canberra Handicap where H.E. the Governor's Nell Gwynn is defending her mile mark against an exceptionally strong field, despite the fact that Able Amazon is unlikely to start.

Contrary to expectation King's berg, on his run last week, should Bountly be likely to go to the post very close. I prefer him to in the Nathan Handicap, but I rather fancy he is not quite as fit as Macaroni, or Gladiator, despite his impressive 1.07 half mile gallop yesterday. Macaroni looks the winner on last meeting's form, and New Star, if started, is a likely outsider. The relegated Don might be worth a bet.

A "Sitter" Foreseen

Racing Pluck, with Mr. Johnnie Heard up, looks a "sitter" for the Jordan Handicap (first section) after his convincing gallop last meeting. Helter Skelter (Mr. Black) should not be far away, while St. Ives looks in good condition, and King's Parade is not carrying too much weight. Good outsiders are Cavalcade and Sarabande. Mr. Davis may be able to coax Chow Fan into running after a disappointing spell. National Day is being spoken of highly, and he will have Mr. Deltz up.

St. Joan Favoured

Australian Boy and The Goose, which dead-headed over 5 furlongs last time out, are 1 lb. up, while St. Joan, running over her favourite mile distance, is carrying the same weight as she was when beaten by a short head a fortnight ago. It looks like the latter's race. She possesses a powerful finish after a slow start. Lucy Glitters should not be far away.

First Leg Of "Double"

The Austin Plate should witness a rare struggle between Soldier of Germany, very promising over sprint distances, and Ribble with Budge in close attendance. Monoplane is quite a good proposition over six furlongs. This is the first leg of the "double."

Novices' Race

The novices' race should provide Mr. Taylor, the Australian rider, with a win on The Bodega, though Delightful Chance, Hell for Leather, Little Beauty, and Sincerely Yours are likely contenders. The Carp, if it starts here, is likely to cause an upset.

Lemberg Form Good

No fewer than 32 ponies are entered for the second leg of the "double," and it is not easy to select the winner with the probability of an exceptionally large field. Lemberg Form Good.

been away from the United States in recent months. Fans believed his fifth-place racing was due to bad showings in Australia, against little-known, in the United States at least, opponents.

SHEK KAM-PI FAVoured FOR HARBOUR SWIM

Kwok Chun-hang Offers Serious Challenge

THREE LADIES COMPETING

Among the prominent starters in the 2,000 metres cross-the-harbour swim, at to-day's conclusion of the eleventh annual aquatic meeting of the South China Athletic Association, are Shek Kam-pui, Wong Sun-man and Kwok Chun-hang. The race will commence at 2 o'clock.

The race will start from Whampoa Docks, near Hungghom, across the harbour to the Association's bathing beach.

Shek Kam-pui, holder of the Kwangtung Provincial Aquatic Title this year, is favoured to win the race; while places will be keenly contested for between Wong Sun-man, and Kwok Chun-hang, China's breast-stroke champion. Three ladies are also entered for the race. They are Misses Ngan Ying-chau, Yeung Kau-wah, and Lee Ngai-ying.

Among the other entrants are Chang King-chi, Chan Man-ping, Wong King-yam, Tang Fu-sang and Wong Shi-kam.

Jack Dempsey's Offer To Jack Petersen

Father Must Be Manager In World Title Bid

Jack Dempsey, the former world's heavyweight boxing champion, seeks to manage, with complete control, Jack Petersen, the British champion, with a view to a world-title fight.

Petersen's father and manager says, "I have no intention of handing over his affairs," but adds that his son would fight under Dempsey's promotion.

New York, September 1. Jack Dempsey, to whose training Max Baer owes his championship, has a new ambition. It is to present to the world a successful British candidate for the heavy-weight crown.

Briefly, they are that the whole world would welcome the advent of a British heavy-weight champion. "I believe," he said, "I'm the man who could train him for victory."

"My candidate would be Jack Petersen. I've cabled my ideas to Sir Harry Preston."

American Methods
"For some time past I've been quite interested in Petersen. He's a fine, high-class boy—a good, clean-living boy. He ought to have a brilliant future if he is handled right."

RECOGNISED TIMEAMERICANS AGAIN
PREDOMINATE

EASTMAN'S PROMINENCE

LONDON, SEPT. 4.

THE MOST IMPORTANT WORK DONE BY THE INTERNATIONAL AMATEUR ATHLETIC FEDERATION AT ITS CONGRESS, AT STOCKHOLM, WAS TO RATIFY 34 NEW WORLD'S RECORDS.

Of these records England obtains seven, as compared with sixteen for the United States. Of England's seven records six are held by A. H. G. Pope, who now holds the world's record for the five, six, seven, and eight miles, the 10,000 metres, and hour. England's other record was the 33,653 metres covered by E. Harper (Hallamshire Harriers) in two hours last year.

Of the sixteen records held by the United States B. Eastman made six of the new marks. He is now world record-holder for 440 yards, 600 yards, 880 yards, 500 metres, 600 metres, and 800 metres. G. Cunningham, another American, is now holder of the mile record with a time of 4 min. 6.4-5. secs.

Records Ratified

The following are the thirty-four world records ratified:—

Running

440 Yds.—B. Eastman (U.S.A.), 1932, 49.4-10 sec.

LANCASHIRE WIN COUNTRY
CRICKET CHAMPIONSHIP

Tyldesley, for many years the outstanding figure, has battled and fielded nearly as well as ever.

Landcraire will find it hard to part with him after a quarter of a century. Indeed, it is being said that since he announced his retirement Tyldesley has decided to turn amateur and accept the captaincy, which Eckersley appears to be vacating. I can, however,

The operation went successfully and the condition of the patient appears to be satisfactory.—Havas.

MAMAK HOCKEY WIN
FOR POLICEDefeat Signals 3-0
In First Game

WASS SHINES FOR WINNERS

The Police, Mamak Hockey champions, registered their first win this season when they defeated the Royal Corps of Signals by 3 goals to nil in a Mamak match on the Police Training School ground yesterday. The Signals opened strongly, but their forwards missed many opportunities. An Indian player, B.756, and Woodby scored for the Police before half time, and Pennell netted the third goal within ten minutes of the finish.

Wass, at centre-half was outstanding for the winners, while Martin and Whitehead shone for the Signals.

been no outstanding recruits to the side, though it is possible that Goddard, of Cheltenham, may decide to join Gloucester. F. Wadley will skipper the team for the third year in succession and will again lead the pack, with Carpenter, Comley, Hordern, Ivor Williams, and Welham in it as his colleagues, should prove formidable.

Bristol will be without D. W. Burland, whose shoulder remains unsound, and his loss will be greatly felt. Bristol had only a moderate season in 1933-34, but the club is well supplied with junior players, and nowhere are there keener or abler officials. T. J. M. Barrington will captain the side, and there will be two other Welshmen available, for R. P. Morris, of Swansea, and J. Bomen of Bridgend, have both moved to Bristol to live.

Of the other West Country clubs most is expected from Devonport Services, who, when they get their pack properly going, can give a hard fight to the best of teams. Torquay will require good opposition if a fair proportion of their last season's fifteen turn out again, and Plymouth Albion also promise well.

In The Midlands

In the Midlands, Northampton have every reason to look forward to another successful season, although they have lost J. H. Treen, to Rugby League football. Their new captain will be A. D. Mathews, while the forward line will include R. J. Longland and J. Dicks, the latter of whom was one of "finds" of last season. C. J. Sturtridge, the Australian, who played several times for Roslyn Park last year, may be available for the club, as he is now engaged on work at a local hospital.

W. E. Lole, captain of Coventry, and a great club half-back, has at last retired from active participation in the game, and G. W. Harrison has been appointed as his successor.

find no confirmation of the statement.

The absence of Eckersley yesterday added to the melancholy of dull skies, falling leaves, and the knowledge that a golden season was coming to an end.

The result of the match itself had been practically certain since Saturday, and the only doubt remaining concerned Lancashire's chance of finishing the summer of excellent work with a splendid victory.

MEET ARTILLERY AT
CAROLINE HILLLEAGUE SOCCER'S BIG GAME ON TO-DAY'S CARDMANY DRASTIC CHANGES ARE MADE IN TEAM LINE-UPS

CAROLINE HILL, AND ITS SURROUNDING HILL-TOPS, WILL ONCE AGAIN PRESENT THAT FAMILIAR "FOOTBALL SEASON" ASPECT WHEN THOUSANDS OF CHINESE AND FOOTBALL ENTHUSIASTS JOURNEY TO THE STADIUM FOR TO-DAY'S LEAGUE SOCCER ATTRACTION—SOUTH CHINA "B" v THE ROYAL ARTILLERY.

Defeating the Lincolns in their opening game by 2 goals to 1 last Saturday, the Chinese footballers are favoured to continue in winning vein and secure a further two points from the Gunners.

SOME STARTLING RESULTS ARE EXPECTED IN THE OTHER SOCCER FIXTURES FOR TO-DAY. FOLLOWING THE DRASTIC POSITIONAL CHANGES MADE IN MANY OF THE TEAMS AS A RESULT OF LESSONS LEARNED FROM THE OPENING GAMES LAST SATURDAY.

The Club will oppose the East Lanes on their own ground at Happy Valley but are not expected to win if the East Lanes forwards can only find their shooting boots. The Lanes, although forced to a draw last Sunday, have yet to show their true form.

Navy Make Debut

The Navy make their debut against the strong Lincolns, combination to-morrow, and supported by the arrival of H.M.S. Suffolk should give a good account of themselves.

The following is to-day's programme:

East Lanes' Failing

There seems to be one weakness common to both the 1st and 2nd teams of the East Lanes, namely, an inability to finish off good movements when they get in front of goal. The teams are well enough balanced, but when they get in front of the goal they spoil all the good work that has gone before.

On Sunday the 1st team shared points with the Recreio, and on Saturday the 2nd team—against the run of the play—dodged their caps to the Lincolns; yet in each case they had sufficient opportunities to make the points their own. With this weakness overcome, both teams should give very good accounts of themselves in their respective divisions.

1st Team.—Oxford, Swain, Gorman, Smith, Lawton, North, Thompson.

JACK DEMPSEY'S OFFER TO JACK PETERSEN

"What are your ideas about training him?" I asked. "Well," Dempsey replied, "the championship has to be won in the United States. American methods of fighting are quite different from British methods."

"My idea would be to get Petersen to come over here as soon as possible and to put himself under my absolute control."

"It would be no use for me to share my management of him with other managers from England. I realize that if I were to go to England I should be lost, just as an English manager would be if he came here."

"But if Petersen were to adopt my suggestion and come over here, I should take him along very slowly for a while."

Getting Acclimatised
"After two or three months I should pit him against two or three mediocre fighters, just to get him acclimatised and accustomed to the American style of heavy-weight boxing."

"And when would you expect him to be ready for the championship?" I asked.

"If he were to come here with me in the next two or three months," Dempsey responded, "my hope would be to have him putting up a real battle for the world's championship by the autumn of 1935."

LADIES' HOCKEY
INTERPORTH. K. Send Invitation to ShanghaiMRS. T. E. PEARCE NEW HOCKEY PRESIDENT

The possibility of the first Ladies' Interport hockey match being played in the Colony this season was revealed at the annual general meeting of the Hong Kong Ladies' Hockey Association, held at Lane Crawford's Restaurant yesterday, under the chairmanship of Miss H. Knill.

It was announced that an invitation had been forwarded to the Shanghai Ladies' Hockey Association to send a team to Hong Kong to meet a team picked from players in the Caer Clarke Cup Competition.

It was mentioned that the Hong Kong Association have not enough funds to send a team to Shanghai this season, but hoped to raise enough funds to do so next season.

In order to raise money it was decided to have an afternoon of seven-a-side hockey. Each team in the Caer Clarke Competition may enter one team only. This would give the players excellent opportunity for practice. The afternoon of Saturday December 8 was chosen for games.

Mrs. T. E. Pearce, who was elected President of the Association, has offered to present a Cup to the winners of the seven-a-side competition.

Miss M. Woolley, captain of St. Andrew's Ladies' team, suggested that a second division should be organised for junior teams in the Caer Clarke competition. After some discussion this suggestion was accepted for further consideration.

The following officers were elected for the coming season. President, Mrs. T. E. Pearce; Vice-President and Chairman, Miss H. Knill; Hon. Secretary, Mrs. P. M. Harrop; Assistant Secretary, Miss A. Fowler.

Those present at the meeting were Miss M. Churchill, Miss E. Gray and Mrs. P. M. Harrop, (Hong Kong Ladies); Misses M. Woolley, M. White and P. Gittins (St. Andrew's); Misses M. Basto and L. Silva-Netto (Club de Recreio); Misses A. Fowler, O. Brown, and S. Dalziel (Y.M.C.A. Ladies); Misses J. Walker, E. Woolley and M. Whitley (C.B.A. Ladies); Misses H. Knill, K. Moir and E. Rousseau (C.B.S.).

SPEEDY DADO AND TOMMY IN RANKING LIST

However, on October 24, 1933, Dado whipped Tommy to gain California State Boxing Commission recognition as world champion.

It was the opinion of many that back on the West Coast Dado will soon fight his way back into a higher place in NBA ratings than Tommy with whom he has won and lost on several occasions.

Escobar's Rise

Escobar, like a comet, flashed his way to recognition by knocking out Baby Casanova of Mexico in the 9th of a scheduled 10-round bout in Montreal several months ago.

An astute manager immediately claimed the world's crown owing to Casanova's impressive record of wins, among his victims being both Tommy and Dado. Then the hard-hitting Puerto Rican followed his sensational victory up with a 10-round decision over Eugene Hunt of France, former European flyweight champion, further emphasizing his eligibility for the NBA's No. 1 rating which was awarded him.

Rosenbloom, on the downgrade of late, is scheduled to clash with Enzo Piermonte, handsome Italian, and husband of Mrs. Vincent Astor III, late this year for the lightweight title.

Many believed, however, that the New York Boxing Commission would also rule Rosenbloom out as champion—United Press.

R.A.S.C. Positional
Changes

The R.A.S.C., who defeated the R.A.O.C. last Saturday, are not satisfied with their right-wing and right-half, and are experimenting with several players for these two positions.

The probable team for to-day is: Cooper; Forsyth and Alvis; Meeker, Digby and Crayford; Jeffreys, Arends, Clarke, Vaughan and Fuller.

R.E. Teams Unchanged

The Royal Engineers are fielding exactly the same teams again this week which were defeated by South China and Radio in the second and third divisions respectively.

Teams are as follows:
2nd Division.—Sellick; Tucker and Dudley; Denham, Lester and Pegg; Callard, Stevens, Derby, Howlett and Creagh.

3rd Division.—Carter; Revill and Ellis; Grinley, Coleman and Clark; Whittaker, Eoyling, Budden, Harding and Watelidge.

Navy "B" Stronger

The Navy "B" team, which defeated the Young Indians by 7 goals to 3 last week, had the assistance of several senior players, who will be displaced for to-day's match. They have a hard game against the Chinese Athletic, but the arrival of the Verity and Suffolk should provide fresh talent for the team.

The selected team is as follows: Fairbrace (Rainbow); Treagus (Suffolk); and Bracher (Whitch); Chambers (Orpheus); Bright (Rainbow) and A. N. Other; Mhan (Orpheus); Barsted (Verity); White (Suffolk); Clarke (Verity) and Martin (Orpheus).

GAMING CLUBS IN LONDON

Many Opened In West End Recently

"BANK" ALWAYS WINS

The prosecution at Marlborough Street Police Court of a man found guilty of conducting a gaming house in Albany Courtyard, Piccadilly, has aroused public speculation as to the extent to which gambling is carried on in the West End at the present time.

It is no secret that there has been a considerable increase in the number of roulette and baccarat "clubs" opened during the past year. Such facts, however, as are given below have no connection whatsoever with that court proceedings.

For some time gambling in London, as distinct from harmless play in private houses and at functions in aid of charity, has been practically controlled by one group of men. These people make a practice of renting expensive premises—rarely outside the confines of Mayfair, Bayswater, and Kensington—for periods of three months at a time.

Roulette is the principal game played, but once a week, generally on Thursdays, it is forsaken in favour of baccarat or chemin-de-fer.

No Formalities

There is a singular lack of formality about these gaming places. Strangers are welcomed; they do not have to be "signed in" or introduced by habitués. Drinks are liberally supplied and are free. Evening dress is never compulsory.

Most of these roulette parties continue right through the night but officially these are two separate sessions: the first from 5.30 p.m. to 8 p.m., the second from 10.30 p.m. until the last guest has left. Stakes ranging from one shilling to 250 can be placed on the even chances.

Needless to say, the "bank" invariably wins in the long run. It is a common occurrence for £100 to be lost in one evening's play, while a single baccarat session frequently finds the gamblers the poorer by £500.

The regular frequenters of London's gaming houses are, mostly middle-aged people of private means. Occasionally a debutante or an undergraduate find their way into one of them, but they rarely come back. They cannot afford it.

Rich Widow's Play

Report of one rich widow who goes to a certain roulette "club" five nights a week states "how every night she quietly produces six £5 notes from her bag, stakes them one by one, and promptly leaves the house, apparently indifferent whether she wins or loses."

Four members of the group are usually present, acting as croupiers and hosts, while their wives mingle with the crowd, generally playing for high stakes and appearing strangely indifferent when their "luck" is out.

One precaution invariably taken is to have the street door carefully watched.

The group are also unusually well-informed about the financial status not only of their regular visitors but also of a far wider circle of men and women. Cheques and L.O.U.'s are sometimes accepted.

Gambling fever in the West End is a pitiful complaint. It has a habit of breaking out badly every four or five years. While the fever lasts it results in extremely high profits for those who organize it to their own ends.

WATCH TOWERS FOR FOREST FIRES

New Look-Out Methods Proved Successful

There is every reason to hope that the British Forestry Commissioners will this year establish a new record in the effective fighting of forest fires.

Up to date there have been approximately the same number of outbreaks as in the corresponding period of last year, although the amount of damage has been appreciably less.

During the whole of last year there were 623 outbreaks, a record number, but the damage done was less than half that in the previous drought year 1929, when the number of fires was more than 200 less.

The further improvement which has been achieved in the past year is a result of the new look-out methods.

KING JOHN'S JEWELS ONLY HIDDEN

Rector And The Most Likely Place

"NOT LOST IN THE WASH"

The Rev. O. R. Plant, Rector of Rockingham, Northants, is convinced that King John's treasure was not lost in the Wash but that it is hidden between Rockingham Castle and his rectory.

The rector has already found behind a false cardboard back in the church safe some silver plate, including a hand-beaten silver chalice dated 1570, which has been valued at £4,000, and is believed to have been used at Communion in the adjacent Royal Castle by the Kings of England.

In continuing his investigations the rector discovered that King John was at Rockingham a few days before the disaster in the Wash, and he claims that records preserved in the Castle show that the bulk of the Royal treasures were not in the baggage train that was lost, but that they were at Rockingham at that time.

"I am not making an irresponsible statement. I know what I am talking about," said Mr. Plant to a Press representative. "If I had a gang of four men working for a week on the spot which I think hides the treasure I am confident the longlost crown and jewels would at last come to light."

Christmas Box For Nation

"I know to a few yards where to start work, and am only awaiting the consent of the owners," Sir Michael Culme-Seymour, who is at present in Canada, "I hope to make it a Christmas box for England."

"The old chest in which King John's jewels were placed is still in the castle and records there show that they were taken from the chest," but "I cannot think for a moment he entrusted the whole of his riches to his barons and retainers who he knew might rob at any moment."

Conquer

Weak nerves—and regain new Vitality

Of course you would look years younger and feel much stronger, if once your nerves could regain their strength. For irritability and that "run-down" feeling are only a question of nerves.

Start taking Sanatogen—famous all over the whole world as the nerve-food. Then you drink in new health and vitality and you soon feel a new flow of life go through your veins.

Gone will be that irritability, that restlessness, that tired feeling, gone all those troubles such as sleeplessness and lack of appetite. For Sanatogen conquers nerve-weakness, which is the basic cause of your complaints.

Full of energy and cheer, you will enjoy life again, your whole being radiating that youthful health which is the mark of a vigorous constitution of mind.

Don't let your nerves suffer. Get Sanatogen today—any good chemist or druggist.

"Although as a rule the fortunate possessor of excellent health, there are times when I find myself feeling rather run-down and headachy. At these times Sanatogen proves invaluable, and after a short course of this preparation I am quite fit again, and am able to carry on my work without any feeling of lassitude."—Miss Kathryn Rhodes, the well-known authoress.

RAILROAD ANXIETY

Chartists are forecasting an imminent major market upturn. Favourable factors yesterday were that American telephones and private chart telephone connections were regarded as doing excellent business, and that the business barometer has made a sharp upward turn in the past fortnight, the first advance since the spring.

An unfavourable factor was that the railroad net operating income for August was U.S.$39,677,337, as against U.S.$61,401,986 last year, the sharpest decline in any month during 1934. — United Press, per S. E. Levy and Company.

Favourable factors were:—

1. Indications of a more conservative turn to the Administration's policies, with reports that the N.R.A. is considering the abandonment of the "Blue Eagle" and price fixing.
 2. The market displays good resistance to scattered liquidation.
 3. The strength of Government bonds is bolstering sentiment.
- Unfavourable factors:—
1. The absence of a strong revival in trade is somewhat disappointing.
 2. Nervous selling of some California's issues on the political situation in that State is unsettling but it is believed that the movement is subsiding.
- Wall Street opened firm. Yesterday's late rally was resumed, with advances of from fractions to one point predominating. A moderate extension in the upturn seems to be indicated, but, in the absence of any stimulating outside developments, a sustained advance at present is not anticipated.

E. A. Pierce Co.'s Report
In their market report, the American Oriental Finance Corporation, correspondent for Messrs. E. A. Pierce and Company New York state:

"Stocks:—The market was again in the resistance zone, with at least a fair chance of going through."

"Wheat:—The tone of the market was firmer on continued good support and on reports of a better shipping demand for cash grain and also owing to a demand for Flour. The Winnipeg market was strong, with large export sales."

"Cotton:—The market was small, with hedging on the light side. Pre-Bureau report covering has increased. Private cotton crop estimates have been probably discounted by Commission House buying and in sympathy with the strength of other markets."

"Rubber:—Further London and Commission House liquidation, presumably on foreign account, hurt the market again. Buying on a scattered scale has appeared."

"Flashes:—Analyst Index of Business Activity: 74.3, against 72.1 last week. Automobile output in the United States during the past week amounted to 37,254 units, compared with 38,329 units the previous week. Money in circulation increased by $65,000,000."

"The coming events are believed to be Mail Order and Chain Store stocks, which offer the best chance for profitable speculation, according to present indications."—Reuter.

ISAKO CIRCUS TO OPEN TO-NIGHT

Largest To Pay Visit To Colony

To-night is the opening night of the Frans Isako Circus, the biggest circus ever to visit Hong Kong. The troupe consists of 200 European Artists, clowns from every land, and a large party of "Cossacks," the winners of the International New York Rodeo.

TRADE RECOVERY IN BRITAIN

New Evidence In Bank Weekly Returns

NOTE CIRCULATION EXPANSE

London, To-day. Further evidence of improving trade conditions in Britain is found in the weekly returns of the Bank of England.

For the past week note circulation, which mainly represents the actual cash in the hands of the public, has expanded by nearly another £4,000,000, and now stands over £7,000,000 higher than at this time last year.

Bankers' clearing house figures show a slight setback this week, but since the beginning of the present year they have recorded a remarkable expansion of £2,450,000,000. This mainly represents the increased turn-over of cheques in connection with the country's business and industry, and also its stock exchange investments. Although the latter have probably been much heavier this year, the large part of the increased money turn-over is due to the increasing activity in trade and industry.

Clearing figures may be said to cover wholesale trade, and note circulation forms a rough index of retail business. Both are in a very healthy state. — British Wireless Service

NEW DANCING HALL OPENED

New Majestic Ball Room At China Emporium

LARGEST IN THE COLONY

Nearly $20,000 was spent on the elaborate decorations of the new Majestic Ball Room and Dancing Academy, opened last night at the China Emporium Cafe de Luxe.

It is the largest dancing hall of its kind in the Colony.

With a capacity for over 500 guests, the interior presents a very attractive appearance, with concealed lighting effects. A ten-piece orchestra, known as the "Andrinos," supply the jazz music.

The Ball Room is under the management of Mr. Fung Tak-hang, assisted by Mr. C. Gray, who has had considerable experience in this kind of work in the Colony.

ing, which was eventually called off.

Efforts are being made by the Provincial Department of Finance to collect the business tax first from those foreign firms in the city, then those in Shamen, and finally those in other treaty ports of Kwang-tung.

Foreign merchants here wonder why the Chamber takes the trouble to press for the payment of the business tax when this is the function of the Provincial Department of Finance. These letters are therefore disregarded in spite of the accompanying threat.

"A WOMAN IN THE CASE"

Mr. K. G. Blair Pleads For His Servant

Lo Chi-chiu, a 26-year-old house boy employed by Mr. K. G. Blair, of No. 13, Broadwood Road, was charged before Mr. E. W. Hamilton at the Central Magistracy yesterday morning, with the theft of a tin of fruit and a tin of jam, valued at $2, the property of Mr. Blair.

Mr. Blair pleaded or defended, saying that the whole trouble was that there was a woman in the case, who forced him into trouble. The boy, he said, had been his servant for over two years, and had proved himself quiet honest.

Accused was bound over in the sum of $100, for a period of one year.

St. Louis Cardinals gained their fifth National League pennant in eight years when they out-ran the mighty New York Giants, 1933 world champions, in a thrilling race towards the close of the season. The Dean brothers, "Dizzy" and "Duffy" were undoubtedly the team's tower of strength; "Dizzy" alone giving the "Cards" 7 shut-outs and 30 victories during the season. "Wild" Bill Hallahan, hero of the 1931 duel with Philadelphia Athletics, defeated the Tigers twice in an exhibition game this year, but failed on Thursday in the second match against the "Bengals of the Middle West". The "Cards" won the world title in 1926 and again in 1931.

AFTER 14 YEARS

Mickey Cochrane, the Tigers' new manager, enabled the middle west team to break the eastern monopoly of the American League when he guided the Motor City to their first American pennant win in 14 years.

By a fortunate occurrence three statesmen who hold, or have held, the office of Prime Minister in Dominion Governments were also in London and attended the Council. They were Mr. R. B. Bennett, Prime Minister of Canada, General Smuts, Minister of Justice and formerly Prime Minister of the Union of South Africa, and Mr. Stanley Bruce, High Commissioner for Australia and formerly Prime Minister of the Commonwealth.

Others present were the Lord President of the Council, Mr. Stanley Baldwin, the Lord Chancellor, Lord Sankey, the Foreign Secretary, Sir John Simon, the Dominions Secretary, Mr. J. H. Thomas, and the Archbishop of Canterbury.

A document approving Prince George's marriage, expressed on a parchment, was prepared and the great seal of England was affixed. Their Majesties the King and Queen later entertained members of the Council to a luncheon at which Prince George was present. — British Wireless Service

To-day's Short Story.

The Thief Of Time

By Leslie Gordon Barnard

"THAT clock," said the little watch-maker suavely, "is not for sale, sir." "You have it on display!"

"I beg pardon. It is hanging there waiting for the customer to claim it. Mr. Block is a connoisseur in clocks of all kinds, and is good enough to entrust me with any minor repairs."

The man on the outside of the counter ran his fingers over the clock possessively. He wore large horn glasses, a fur-lined coat that came well up over his face, and a drooping moustache to which, once or twice, the little watchmaker raised keen eyes. Finally the would-be buyer sighed.

"It is a very quaint piece."

"Very."

"With a history?"

"Undoubtedly. Mr. Block does not bother with any other kind!"

"It would be interesting to know the exact history of this little gift creation. French, isn't it?"

"Yes, sir."

"May I just examine it?"

"Well—"

But the customer had taken the little clock in his hands. His eyes behind the horn glasses were greedy. He did not tell the little watchmaker that this was not the first time he had handled the clock. The other time was in Mr. Block's house. Block had several distinguished collectors in for a viewing of his treasures, and Cabal was among them.

"Sell that?" Block had laughed when questioned. "Not if I know it! That clock marked the last hours of the Comte de Soisy, in the French Revolution. He was fond of the clock, and a bit of a wag, and, with a little judicious bribery, he smuggled it in when he went to his final imprisonment. After that, it became a jest with the guards—a bright brilliant jest—that the clock with its little trumpet note should so gaily mark the coming death of its owner. It is understood there was a scramble for it when the time came, and some jester spirited it away—so it is preserved to this day. No, gentlemen, I would not part with that."

The man, Cabal, outside the counter, thought of this now and a faint smile moved under his moustache.

"Mr. Block must trust you implicitly to let you have this!"

The watchmaker bowed.

"I never let it out of my sight! I fetched it myself this morning, and will return it to-night when the shop closes. It is not, certainly, a thing for a messenger boy!"

MONDAY'S STORY

Monday's story will be "Inspiration," by Florence Kilpatrick.

Cabal nodded.

Suddenly he took from his pocket a very ordinary watch.

"Glass broken," he said. "Wish you'd renew it. How long will it take?"

"Not very long, sir, but—"

"I'll come back," agreed Cabal hastily. "What time do you close?"

"Seven sharp."

"Well, I can just do it, I think, by then. If not, to-morrow morning."

"Very good, sir."

The watchmaker took a ticket from a drawer, detached one portion to tie to the watch, and handed Cabal the other.

Cabal took it, nodded, and started out. Behind him, a silver trumpet sounded thrice. Three o'clock!

Other clocks took up the message of the hour, but for Cabal they did not exist. He was shivering with the beauty and significance of the silver trumpet. It held almost a laughing note: "Ha—ha—ha! Ha—ha—ha! Ha—ha—ha!" Three times like that—a short note and a long one, and then silence, save for the other chiming clocks that did not matter.

Cabal was back in the days when aristocrats went to the guillotine and his jesting trumpet marked the fading hours for a waggish count. A woman later he put his hand to his watch pocket as if to check the time, a little sprinkle of glass threatened his finger, one silver, piercing it, brought blood.

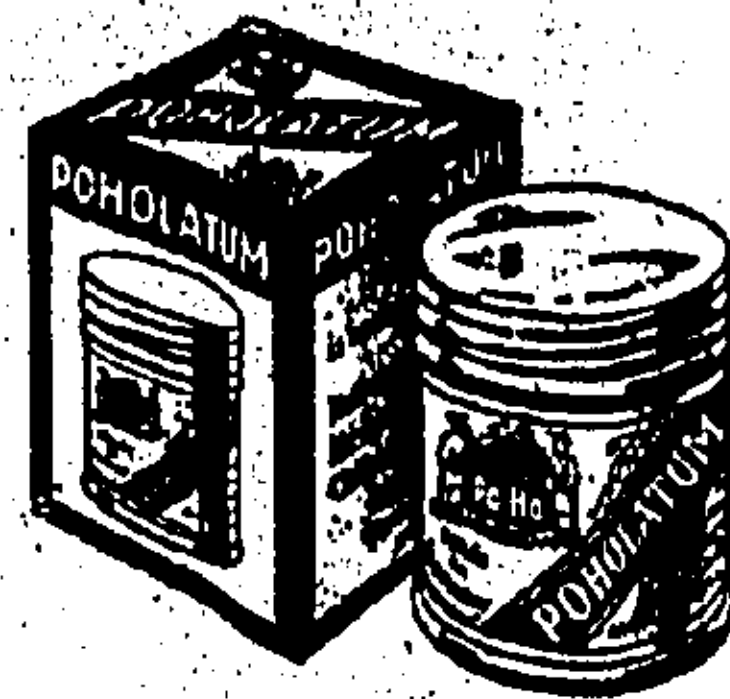

He stood for a second looking at it, wondering what devilish impulse, what prophetic insight, had made him suddenly break that glass to find out the time the shop closed, after which the little watchmaker would be taking back this treasure to the man who would not sell it at any price.

From three to seven is four hours, in which time a man may endure much temptation. Cabal, returning to his boarding-house, fought with himself in the streets and then alone in his room. It was typical of him, when he travelled from home to choose some obscure but comfortable place like this where he might preserve his incognito. As Cabal, the famous collector to permit any publicity as to his movements was to court financial loss. As Cabal, he would have to pay five times the amount that an ordinary citizen might get a place.

Seated now in his room, he slouched gloomily in a chair, his overcoat, with its shielding collar, still unremoved, his keen eyes clouded by the slightly smoked horn glasses that protected them. Finally he rose, removed the coat and glasses with something approaching impatience, stepped to the mirror, and, by a deft movement, added a final touch in the process which revealed his true identity.

In his hand now was the moustache that had altered his mouth; he stood revealed as a pale and almost insignificant-looking man of about forty, clean-shaven, and redeemed from this insignificance only by certain eccentricities of feature that made him easily recognizable as Cabal, the collector.

CHINA YEAR BOOK 1934

The China Year Book should be immediately accessible to the staff of every office in China. Its 550 pages cover the whole field of political, financial and commercial activities in easy reference form, and makes its absence a definite handicap as much to the small trader as to the diplomat. Very little of the contents of this edition has appeared in previous issues. In the current issue, among other important documents, will be found:—

The Rajchman Report
Draft Permanent Constitution
Banking Laws
Manchurian Railways
Sino-Japanese Issues

Price $20
Postage
China 50 cts.
Hongkong 80 cts.
Abroad $2.00

and special articles on currency, communications, cost of living, trade prospects and statistics, the Chinese Government, public justice, telegraph, telephone and postal information, and a Who's Who of nearly a thousand prominent Chinese personalities.

The China Year Book is not written by one man, but by a number of the principal foreign and Chinese authorities on the various subjects dealt with. Among them are:

Father E. Ghera: The Climate of China
Mr. E. Kann: Currency and Banking
Father P. M. D'Elia: R. C. Missions
Dr. Ta Chen: Labour Problems
Dr. M. T. Z. Tyn: Greater Shanghai
Mr. Owen Lattimore: Chinese Turkestan and Mongolia
Rev. C. L. Boynton: Protestant Missions
Dr. J. B. Grant: Public Health

The Editor, who is himself a leading authority on Chinese affairs, is the author of several works on China. Editor of "Oriental Affairs" and has lived for over thirty years in the country.

THE THIEF OF TIME

Cabal, his heart beating in an agony of excitement, let him get a few paces ahead, then stealthily crossed the street and trailed cautiously behind.

This cat-and-mouse progress did more than anything to restore sense in the collector. What wild desire had turned him into something devilishly like a footpad creeping up on a victim?

Only madmen or desperate bandits went about waylaying people in the open street! Why, already they were coming upon more crowded ways. And the lighting was better; it showed very clearly the little man with his parcel just ahead.

His blood turned to water, and then the water to some potent wine. If he really wanted that clock, he could have it, and with real safety! Nobody would be hurt, except the feelings of the watchmaker and of Block, and in some way he'd find a method of reimbursing them—a roundabout way, so that there would be some honesty in his act. Shallow thinking again! A salve to a shaky conscience!

Conscience didn't matter much when you got as close as this and saw how utterly easy it was! That little fellow ahead was unsuspecting; the parcel nestled under his arm. There was a dark lane just beyond. And the people around would even help the case!

His blood turned to water, and little fellow passed that lane. How he wished he wasn't so shaky in the limbs! He couldn't nerve himself! Yes, he could, by giving full thought to the clock; not to the man ahead—just to this amazing little treasure. Four paces! A rough shouldering of the little man! A cautious, fearful snatching! An outcry.

He had it! Cabal had it, and was down the lane like a flash.

"Help! Thieves!" Cries like that reached him; the sound of people running; the shrilling of a whistle.

His hands, holding the little parcel, almost dropped it. It seemed a mad nightmare to think that he, Cabal, had done this thing. He had committed an act of robbery. If they caught him he was done for—with a long stretch in prison ahead of him. Cutting across that horror was a desperate sense of triumph. He had his clock! He'd taken it unlawfully, but he'd got it, and he'd got it!

He thrust the clock into a capacious and concealing pocket in his loose-fitting coat. It had taken only a second or two for these mental flashes, and this concealing act, when he heard the shouting "Thieves!"

He ran. Down the lane there! He ran that he was paralyzed. In ran that way!" And another voice: "A man with glasses and a dark moustache!"

Cabal smiled. The thing had worked. Quick as a flash, he had off the disguising moustache; it was tossed over a wall; the glasses foli-ously behind. The collar of his coat he turned down, thanking the fates that his coat was nondescript. It would never give him away. The hue-and-cry was up now; people were running down the mews; Cabal, in the darkness of a gate-way, watched them and presently became one of them!

In a very few moments, they were out the other end of the mews and into a well-lighted street; a group of excited people, a second policeman—the first was still scouring the mews—and himself scarce under the stares even of the frightened, stupefied little watchmaker and these others who still shouted his description.

"Which way did he go?" asked Cabal breathlessly.

Nobody knew. "Dark man with moustache and glasses!" said someone again. "I'd know him like a shot!"

"So should I," said Cabal in quick, bold agreement.

His eyes went to the little watchmaker, in whose face was agony. "My clock!" said the little fellow. "He's got to be found, officer! It's a priceless thing."

Cabal's breath came short. That priceless thing was his, lying in his pocket, in a coat whose voluminous skirts were a sure refuge.

"Description?" asked the policeman bluntly, taking out a notebook. "What was this clock like?"

The watchmaker gave it; Cabal approved the thoroughness of the description; and there was renewed in him the awful joy of acquisition. "When it strikes, officer, it's like a trumpet; one short and one long!"

The policeman licked his stubby pencil and wrote diligently. The crowd now showed signs of disappearing. Another episode in the life of a city had taken place, and was over. In a moment, Cabal, quite casually, would drift off also.

The officer drew out a big watch and consulted it with a frown. "Two minutes to eight," he said, and made a note of that.

"Just eight!" corrected somebody. "There goes the hour now."

"That clock's always a bit fast," said the officer resentfully. "Seven fifty-eight, I make it."

Cabal lifted his head. There was something wrong here; some hitch, and the implication of this adventure had left him stupid. Some obvious thing, but he couldn't get his finger on it. He also he stood there until the last stroke of eight sounded from the tower. And then, and only then, he remembered. He was late! He was late! He was late!

COLONEL FAWCETT MAY BE ALIVE

Explorer Suggests An Aerial Expedition

Stories of a mysterious hidden civilisation deep in the jungles of Brazil for which Colonel Fawcett, the British explorer, was searching when he disappeared some years ago, were told to a Press representative by Commander George M. Dyott, who has arrived in London from New York to make arrangements for an expedition to the Netherlands East Indies.

"I think there is just one chance in a thousand that Colonel Fawcett is still alive," he stated to a Press representative. "It would be impossible to say that it has been proved conclusively that he is dead. I believe that another expedition to clear up the Colonel Fawcett mystery and to investigate further stories about these mysterious people would be well worth while."

Commander Dyott added that any new expedition in search of Colonel Fawcett would have to be undertaken by air as the conditions were too difficult on foot. He had maps of waterways in the district, and a seaplane could be used.

RACE MERGER IN AMERICA

Lord Raglan's Forecast

Lord Raglan told the Anthropological Section of the British Association that he believed that before many centuries had passed there would not be a single person in America without a certain proportion of negro blood.

"What I mean is," Lord Raglan said, "that what is happening in America is what will always happen in the history of the world. No two races can occupy the same territory without fusing."

The General Committee of the British Association has decided that the 1935 meeting should be held in Cambridge, and the 1936 or 1940 meeting in Dundee. Next year's meeting will be at Norwich.

A second, it came.

"Ha-h-a-a! Ha-h-a-a! Ha-h-a-a!"

Like a fool, he stood clanking at his pocket as if to silence the tell-tale voice that had marked the passing of a day, a year, a century, and that marked now Cabal's ruin.

"Ha-h-a-a! Ha-h-a-a! Ha-h-a-a!"
